THE WORK,

Here presented, is intended as an introduction to a large biographical account of the Dudley family, which I have long been collecting, and design to publish on my return from Europe, whither, I am about to proceed for the purpose of extending my researches further, than is practicable in this country.

It seemed expedient to publish this collection thus early, in order, that an opportunity might be offered for the correction of unavoidable errors and the addition of such records, as might be found wanting in the genealogies. And, therefore, it is earnestly desired, that those, possessing additional records or corrections of errors, will forward them to me, as soon as possible ; and all appropriate biographical sketches will, also, be received with much gratitude. I am not unmindful of past favors, but tender my warmest thanks to those, who have, already, lent their assistance in this arduous undertaking.

It will be seen that some of the genealogical accounts, given in this volume, are more extensive and much nearer complete than others. This difference is owing entirely to the facilities, that have been afforded for obtaining the necessary facts ; and not to any preference of my own, and, hereafter, I hope to be able to make the whole complete and perfect.

I am particularly desirous of ascertaining the precise relationship between the different branches of the Dudley family in this country ; and I trust the necessary evidence will yet appear to prove them all of one great family, descended from a common ancestor by the name of Sutton of Dudley castle.

In the next volume, the sources from which these collections have been obtained, and the authors consulted, will be minutely specified.

Perhaps it may not be out of place to add here, that, in transcribing old records, where double dates occur, I have omitted the date of the former year, and only copied that of the year according to New Style. For the early settlers, of this country, till about 1700, reckoned time according to Old Style, and began the year on Lady Day, the 25th of March; but during the first half of the 18th century, for events occurring between January 1st, and March 25th, two dates were given, as on page 77, of this volume,—the former for the Julian year, beginning March 25th,—the latter, for the Gregorian, beginning January 1st.

But there is another difference between Old and New Style; for the Julian year, which contained 365 days and 6 hours, exceeding the Solar year, in length, a little more than 11 minutes, had therefore fallen behind it about 10 days, in 1582, when pope Gregory XIII. reformed the calender, and dropped the ten days from it. But, as England and her colonies did not adopt the New Style till the 18th century, the Julian year was eleven days behind the Gregorian, and constantly receding. Hence, to change Old Style to New, 10 days must be added to dates in the 16th or 17th century, (a less number to earlier dates)—11 to those in the 18th, and the Russians, who still use the Old Style, must add 12 days to their dates in the present century, to make them accord with New Style.—See Am. Quar. Regr. Vol. XIV. p. 254.

THE POSTERITY OF GOV. THOMAS DUDLEY,

THROUGH HIS ELDEST SON,

REV. SAMUEL, OF EXETER, N. H.

CAPT. ROGER DUDLEY* was slain in "the wars" in early life, about A. D. 1586, leaving only two children, a son and a daughter, viz.:

THOMAS, (1)§ b. A. D. 1576, at Northampton, Eng.,
d. July 31, 1653, at Roxbury, Massachusetts;

A daughter, b. probably at Northampton, Eng., d.
at —, England, as we believe.

Marriages.

GOV. THOMAS m. 1st, Dorothy —, who died Dec. 27, 1643, aged 61 years, at Roxbury; 2d, Mrs. Catharine Hackburn, April 14, 1644, who survived him, and m. for her third husband, Rev. John Allen, of Dedham, Mass., by whom she had children.

* Capt. Roger could not have belonged to the Duke of Northumberland's branch of the Dudley family.

§ Thomas Dudley came over to this country in 1630. Though most of his children were born in England, his family is accounted the first of the name in America, because all lived and died here, as we have good reason to believe. Possibly, however, some might have died in childhood before the family came across the Atlantic.

First Generation in America.

ELEGIES AND EPITAPHS.

TO THE MEMORY OF MY DEAR AND EVER HONORED FATHER,

THOMAS DUDLEY, ESQ.,

Who deceased July 31, 1653, and of his age 77.

By duty bound, and not by custom led
To celebrate the praises of the dead,
My mournful mind, sore pressed, in trembling verse,
Presents my lamentations at his hearse,
Who was my father, guide, instructor, too,
To whom I ought, whatever I could do ;
Nor is 't relation dear, my hand shall tie,
For who more cause to boast his worth, than I ?
Who heard or saw, observed or knew, him better ?
Or who alive, than I, a greater debtor ?
Let malice bite, and envy gnaw its fill—
He was my father, and I'll praise him, still.
Nor was his name or life led so obscure,
That pity might some trumpeters procure,
Who, after death, might make him falsely seem,
Such, as in life, no man could justly deem.
Well known and loved, where'er he lived, by most,
Both in his native and in foreign coast ;
These, to the world, his merits could make known—
So needs no testimonial from his own :
But now, or never, I must pay my sum ;—
While others tell his worth I'll not be dumb.
One of the founders, him New England know,
Who stayed thy feeble sides when thou wast low,
Who spent his state, his strength and years, with care,
That after-comers, in them, might have share.
True patriot of this little commonweal,
Who is 't can tax thee aught, but for thy zeal ?
Truth's friend thou wert, to errors still a foe,
Which caused apostates to malign thee so ;

Thy love to true religion e'er shall shine—
 My father's God, be God of me and mine ;
 Upon the earth, he did not build his nest,
 But, as a pilgrim, what he had, possessed.
 High thoughts he gave no harbor in his heart,
 Nor honors puffed him up, when he had part ;
 Those titles loathed, which some too much do love,
 For truly his ambition lay above ;
 His humble mind so loved humility,
 He left it to his race for legacy ;
 And oft and oft, with speeches mild and wise,
 Gave his in charge, that jewel rich to prize ;
 No ostentation seen in all his ways,
 As in the mean ones of our foolish days,
 Which all they have, and more, still set to view—
 Their greatness may be judged by what they shew ;
 His thoughts were more sublime, his actions wise—
 Such vanities he justly did despise ;
 Nor wonder, 't was, low things ne'er much did move,
 For he a mansion had, prepared above,
 For which he sighed, and prayed, and longed, full sore,
 He might be clothed upon, forevermore ;
 Oft spoke of death, and, with a smiling cheer,
 He did exult his end was drawing near ;
 Now fully ripe, as shock of wheat, that's grown,
 Death, as a sickle, hath him timely mown,
 And, in celestial barn, hath housed him high,
 Where storms, or showers, nor aught can damnify ;
 His generation served, his labors cease,
 And to his fathers gathered in peace.
 O, happy soul, 'mongst saints and angels blest,
 Who, after all his toil, is now at rest ;
 His hoary head, in righteousness, was found ;
 As joy in heaven or earth, let praise resound.
 Forgotten never be his memory ;
 His blessing rest on his posterity ;
 His pious footsteps followed by his race,
 At last will bring us to that happy place,
 Where we, with joy, each other's face shall see,
 And parted more, by death, shall never be.

HIS EPITAPH.

Within this tomb a patriot lies,
 That was both pious, just and wise ;
 To truth, a shield, to right, a wall,
 To sectaries a whip and maul ;

A magazine of history,
 A prizer of good company ;
 In manners, pleasant and severe,
 The good him loved, the bad did fear,
 And when his time with years was spent,
 If some rejoiced, more did lament.

ANNE BRADSTREET.

AN EPITAPH

*On my dear and ever honored mother, Mrs. Dorothy Dudley, who deceased Decem.
 27, 1643, and of her age, 61.*

HERE LYES,

A worthy matron of unspotted life,
 A loving mother and obedient wife,
 A friendly neighbor, pitiful to poor,
 Whom oft she fed and clothéd, with her store ;
 To servants wisely awful, but yet kind,
 And as they did, so they reward did find ;
 A true instructor of her family,
 The which she ordered with dexterity ;
 The public meetings ever did frequent,
 And in her closet constant hours she spent ;
 Religious in all her words and ways,
 Preparing still for death, till end of days ;
 Of all her children, children lived to see,
 Then, dying, left a blessed memory.

THE CASTLE OF DUDLEY.

DESCRIPTION.

This old castle stands in the eastern part of the town of Dudley, upon the borders of Staffordshire, Eng., on the summit of a high, rocky hill, whose sides are adorned with beautiful groves. It offers a pleasant and very extensive prospect over several counties and a part of Wales.*

The mansion once consisted of a variety of buildings, encompassing a court, which was surrounded by an exterior wall, flanked with towers.

The keep, or dungeon, which stands in the south-west angle, exhibits evident indications of great antiquity.

Most of the other buildings do not appear more ancient, than the time of Henry VIII. or Elizabeth.

In the kitchen, on the eastern side, are two huge chimneys, the fireplace of one being four and a half yards in width.

A considerable area of land is included within the walls. In the year 1774, this enclosure was leased to a butcher, for thirty pounds per annum.

The spacious hall of the castle formerly contained an oak table seventeen yards in length and one in breadth, constructed of one entire plank, which originally measured twenty-five yards, but being too long for the hall, the superfluous part was cut off, and fashioned into a table for the hall of a neighboring gentleman. The tree from which it was taken is said to have contained more than a hundred tons of timber.†

HISTORY.

So much of this castle as time and the destroying hand of man have spared, may claim the honor of being part of one of the oldest fortresses in the English isle.‡

† Grose's Antiquities of England and Wales—Staffordshire.

‡ Camden's Britain in Staffordshire.

Dudo, an Anglo-Saxon, is said to have built and bestowed his name upon it, A. D. 700.*

From the name of this founder of the castle, is derived the present appellation of Dudley, whose orthography has been much varied by writers at different periods.†

At the time of the Norman conquest, as appears from Domesday Book, this castle was granted to a Norman Baron, by the name of William Fitz Ausculph, who possessed, besides, twenty-five manors in the same county; but it remained not long in the possession of his family, for the daughter of William Fitz Ausculph, marrying Fulk Paganel, brought with her the inheritance of Dudley castle, which descended to her son, Ralph Paganel, who took up arms for the Empress Maud, and fortified it for her, when she contended with King Stephen for the crown of England.

In the reign of Henry II. upon the assessment for the marriage of the king's daughter, Paganel appointed his knights' fees de veteri feoffamento, to be fifty in number, and de novo, six and a third part.

Afterwards, because he took part with Prince Henry, in an insurrection against his father, the king dismantled his castle of Dudley.‡

Gervase, the son of Ralph Paganel, married Isabel, daughter of Robert, Earl of Leicester, and they had a daughter Hawyse, who married, first, John de Somerie, and secondly, Roger de Berkley, of Berkley Castle.§

Ralph de Somerie, a son of Hawyse and her first husband, John de Somerie, was Baron of Dudley in right of his mother, during the reign of Richard I. In the 17th year of Henry III. A. D. 1233, when it is styled an "honor," it was seized by the king, because its owner, Roger de Somerie, either neglected or refused to appear, when summoned to receive the honor of knighthood.

The writ is preserved, and may be translated thus,—“Because Roger de Somerie, at the feast of Pentecost last past, has not appeared before the king to be girded with the military girdle, the Sheriff of Worcestershire is hereby commanded to seize on the honor of Dudley, and all the other lands of the said Roger within his jurisdiction, with all the cattle found upon them, so that nothing may be moved off without the king's permission. Witness the king at Wenlock,” &c.¶

¶ Madox's History of the Exchequer.

In the 48th year of this reign, A. D. 1264, Somerie obtained the royal license to castellate his mansion at Dudley, which had probably remained unfortified ever since its dismantling.

This castle and estate continued in the possession of the Someries till the 15th year of Edward II. A. D. 1322, when John de Somerie, the last male heir of the name, dying, left his two sisters, Margaret and Joan, coheiresses, the elder of whom, Margaret, married Sir John Sutton, of the ancient and respectable Saxon family of Suttons in Nottinghamshire, who became, in her right, Baron of Dudley.*

This nobleman assisting Thomas, Earl of Lancaster, against the ministers of Edward II. was for this cause compelled, in order to save his life, to convey all his right and title in the castle and manor of Dudley, with many other large estates, to Hugh le Despenser, son of Hugh, Earl of Winchester; but in the first year of Edward III. A. D. 1325, he obtained restitution of them all.

One of the Suttons, on account of his owning Dudley castle, was summoned to Parliament in the reign of Henry VI. It continued in their possession till unwillingly conveyed by John Sutton, lord Dudley, to his kinsman the grasping and ambitious John Dudley, Duke of Northumberland. This nobleman, while in its possession, made great repairs, and added a magnificent structure worthy of his wealth and fame, which was called the "New Building." He adorned all parts of the castle with the arms of the noble families, from which, by his mother, he was descended, so that, in succeeding times, it might not be supposed an acquisition, but the patrimony of his family.†

This was certainly not very generous, but he went still farther; for, having despoiled his cousin of his castle and estates, he thrust the titles of Dudley and Somerie among his other Baronies, leaving his unhappy kinsman the ridiculous title of lord "Quondam" in their stead.

At length, however, by a sudden revolution of fortune, this lord Quondam again became master of Dudley castle, and his son, Edward, obtained, out of the forfeiture of that potent duke, an ample fortune free from all encumbrances, and a clear title.‡

These estates, Ann, the heiress of Edward Sutton's grandson, Sir Ferdinando, carried in marriage to Humble Ward, Esq., a wealthy goldsmith and jeweller to the Queen of Charles I. Mr. Ward was created Baron, March 23, 1643, by the title of lord Ward, of Birmingham, in Warwickshire.

During the civil wars this castle was a royal garrison. In the year 1644, it stood a siege of three weeks, and was relieved, June 11, by a detachment of the king's forces from Worcester; but May 13, 1646, it was surrendered to Sir William Brereton by Col. Levison, governor for the king.

The part taken by lord Ward in these matters, rendered him liable to some inconveniences from the victorious party; for he was afterwards obliged to ask lenity of the lord Protector, Cromwell, whose privy council declared in a paper dated July 16, 1656, that they "conceived the said Mr. Ward an object of his highness' grace and favor."*

The lords Ward seem to have resided here but a short time afterwards, probably on account of its ruinous condition, which was owing to the injuries received in the siege.

Tradition relates, that, some years since, it served as a retreat to a band of coiners, who set fire to the buildings—whether accidentally or purposely, is unknown.

The last information obtained respecting this castle is, that it belonged to the lord Ward, whose predecessor was created Viscount Dudley and Ward, of Dudley, by George III. April 21, 1763.†

PART SECOND.

THE POSTERITY OF GOV. THOMAS DUDLEY,

THROUGH HIS SON,

GOV. JOSEPH DUDLEY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.

It will be observed, that the descendants of Gov. Joseph Dudley are much less numerous and scattered, than those of Rev. Samuel, of Exeter. Perhaps some of Gov. Joseph's children settled in England, and there died, for I have been unable to find any account of two or three of them in this country, excepting records of their birth.

Rev. Samuel Dudley was forty-one years older than Gov. Joseph, and hence his posterity are now, and ever have been, about one generation in advance of the descendants of the younger brother.

Second Generation in America.

THE POSTERITY OF FRANCIS DUDLEY,*

THROUGH HIS SONS,

JOSEPH, JOHN AND FRANCIS, JR.

FRANCIS DUDLEY, a supposed relation of Gov. Thomas D., was born in England, and, immigrating to this country, settled at Concord, Mass., perhaps about 1663. He m. Miss Sarah Wheeler of C. Oct. 26, 1665, and probably remained in that town till his decease. Mrs. Sarah Dudley, the wife, died Dec. 12, 1713, at Concord.

First Generation in America.

CHILDREN OF FRANCIS DUDLEY.

MARY m. Joseph Fletcher ; JOSEPH m. Abigail Gobble, 1691, and d. Nov. 3, 1702, at Concord ; SAMUEL, b. 1666, m. 1st, Abigail King, Nov. 1, 1704 ; 2d, Lydia , and d. 1775, at Sutton, Mass. The wife d. Aug. 9, 1720 ; SARAH d. Aug. 4, 1701 ; JOHN m. Hannah Poulter, of Medford, May 16, 1697. This lady d. Dec. 20, 1707 ; FRANCIS, JR. m. 1st, Sarah , 2d, Abigail .

* There is a tradition among the descendants of Francis Dudley of Concord, that he, with his two brothers, immigrated to Massachusetts from Ireland, being non-conformists, and Francis settled at Concord, Mass., William in Connecticut, and the third brother in Rhode Island ; and each left posterity.

I very much doubt the correctness of a part of this story, for Francis married at Concord as late as 1665, and, afterwards had a large family of children, which proves that he was a youth at the time of his settling in Concord, about 1663, while William of Guilford, Ct., was of adult age as early as 1637, when he arrived at Boston, from England, and, therefore, could not be supposed a brother to this Francis Dudley.

Second Generation.

CHILDREN OF JOSEPH,* SON OF FRANCIS.

ABIGAIL, b. June 11, 1692, m. John Davis, Dec. 17, 1713; SARAH, b. June 11, 1692; JAMES; JANE, b. March 26, 1693; JOSEPH, JR. b. April 20, 1697, m. Mary Chandler, Oct. 2, 1718; BENJAMIN, b. ROBERT DUDLEY, whose father died several years before the commencement of the Revolutionary War, was the eldest of five brothers, viz: ROBERT, AMBROSE, PETER, JAMES and WILLIAM, all minors at the time of their father's death. He died soon after the Battle of Brandywine, of wounds received in that conflict, where he served as Lieutenant.

AMBROSE, who was a captain in the Virginia line, emigrated to Kentucky in early life, and died near Lexington, in 1826.

MAJ. PETER lived and died (several years since) on the paternal estate, near Fredericksburg, Va. JAMES died in Bourbon Co., Ky., in 1808.

COL. WILLIAM was slain at the head of his regiment, at Fort Meigs, May, 1813.

DR. B. W. DUDLEY, of Lexington, Ky., and, I think, Col. Dudley, of Cincinnati, Ohio, are sons of Capt. Ambrose D.

W. A. DUDLEY, of Lexington, Ky., and ED. DUDLEY, belong to this branch of the family.

§ IN REFERENCE TO HER CHILDREN.

I had eight birds hatched in one nest,
Four cocks there were, and hens the rest ;
I nursed them up with pain and care,
For cost nor labor did I spare,
Till, at the last, they felt their wing,
Mounted the trees, and learned to sing ;
Chief of the brood then took his flight
To regions far, and left me quite ;
My mournful chirps I after send,
Till he return, or I do end.
Leave not my nest, thy dam and shire,
Go back, and sing amidst this choir.
A second bird did take her flight,
And, with her mate, flew out of sight.
Southward they both their course did bend,
And seasons twain they there did spend ;
Till, after blown by southern gales,
They northward steered with fill'd sails.
A prettier bird was no where seen,
Along the beach, among the treen ;
I have a third, of color white,
On whom I place no small delight,
Coupled with mate loving and true,
Hath also bid her dam adieu ;

And where Aurora first appears,
 She now hath perched to spend her years;
 And one unto the college flew,
 To chat among the learned crew;
 Ambition moves still in his breast,
 That he might chant above the rest,
 Striving for more, than to do well,
 That nightingales he might excel.
 My fifth, whose down is yet scarce gone,
 Is 'mongst the shrubs and bushes flown,
 And, as his wings increase in strength,
 On higher boughs he'll perch at length.
 My other three still, with me, nest,
 Until they've grown, then, as the rest,
 Or here or there they'll take their flight,
 As is ordained, so shall they light.
